

Waiver of Liability for Police Canine Training

For and in consideration of the undersigned being given the opportunity to participate in police canine training and functions of the Idaho Police Canine Association (IPCA) and possibly riding in a vehicle operated by members of the IPCA and by any and all means of observation whatsoever, the undersigned, in order to avail himself or herself of said opportunity, recognizes and assumes the risk of damage, injury, loss, cost and expense, and agrees to indemnify, defend, release and hold harmless the IPCA and those persons who were, or are now duly elected or appointed officials, members, agents, and employees from all liability, suits, claims, damages, judgments, losses, attorneys' fees and expenses ("claims") arising out of the participation in the training or related functions of the IPCA, including but not limited to claims from the the undersigned, his heirs, descendants and assigns, and excluding only claims caused by the sole negligence of the IPCA and its members acting within the scope of their titles or responsibilities.

The undersigned acknowledges and accepts there are certain risks associated with this training opportunity. These risks include but are not limited to dog bites, scratches, bruising, damage to clothing from dogs and/or the environment, or other injuries associated with playing, wrestling, fighting or running from dogs utilizing protective equipment.

I acknowledge that I have gone through a basic quarry/agitator orientation relating to the training of police dogs and how to use the equipment to limit injury to myself and the canine.
